

ESC 2009

The US has been a hard market to enter but now Silvertel has gained the right partners and the market is growing well. This is the second show we have attended in the US, within the last 12 months, and we are pleased with the results.

This show was just at the right time to launch our new Li Ion battery charger module. This module provides the quick but accurately controlled charging required for LiIon batteries.

We attended the show in conjunction with our US distributor and the show brought in a record number of leads.

For an up to date list of our products and data sheets please visit our website at:
<http://www.silvertel.com/>